Making The Shift Book

No matter where you are today, and regardless of the decisions you made yesterday, there is hope. Today is a new day filled with opportunities. Your entire way of thinking is about to change. Uncover the proven process that will lead to a life of success and total fulfillment. With this concise and reader-friendly book, you will learn to identify and embrace personal transformations.

- The 3 keys to become what you should have been.
- The voice of your fears versus the voice of your dreams.
- A new way to decide current and new relationships.
- Create strategies to change your environment.
- Embracing a spirit of excellence to achieve more.
- You are more than what you've become.

“This book is a complete game-changer for anyone yearning for more fulfillment in life. As an entrepreneur, I was moved by Vincent’s views on how to push past negativity, pain, shortcomings, excuses and a deficit mentally to walk in your purpose. Mr Harris’ no-excuse mindset delivers effective strategies for implementing the mandatory work to reach your goals. I was granted the opportunity to interview Mr. Harris on my iTunes Podcast, Career Coach Radio, where he presented his philosophy on how to remove toxic individuals from our lives. He taught a process titled “Evaluating Assets and Liabilities” and helped my audience to determine whether or not we should delete people from our lives. This book along with his expertise is needed to change lives and introduce opportunities.” ~ Dr. Lisa Matthews - Career Coach Radio

Speaking Topics

Accountability, Collaboration and Commitment

You can't reach your mission in life by influence alone, thinking alone, or sticky notes alone - you will need the help of others. You reach it by making a decision that no matter what hardships come your way, you will stay committed to your passion. The key is to share what you learn with everyone you encounter to help others who may have been experiencing what you have already endured. Share the trials, setbacks and joys of seeing your hard work come to pass so it can encourage others. Believe in your destiny and stay determined to complete it.

Making The Shift

There should be weekly reviews of your goals to prepare for the future and to enhance your vision. If you don't work as hard managing your future as you do making it, you will never reach your full vision and potential. It's time you move forward and begin Making The Shift.

Seeing Beyond Your Obstacles

Many people change their minds based on the obstacles thrown before them. Obstacles are designed to change your direction, but not your final destination. Without a clear destination, you won't be prepared when a big opportunity arises. Begin to believe you deserve to be more in life as you also begin to let go of your past and those who don't believe. Before there can be success, there first must be stability.

Understand It Before You Undertake It

If you don't understand something well enough to explain it to someone else so they understand it, you don't understand it enough to invest your time or money. Without obtaining an understanding, how can you properly evaluate and analyze the opportunity? One mistake made as a result of not asking the right questions because you lack an understanding could create a situation that takes a lifetime to correct. Before you purchase something you don't really understand, your first step should be a second opinion!

Testimonials

“Your presentation made an impact on our students. It fit nicely with our kick-off message to receive instruction and motivation to start off the year right.” ~ Tonya Baily -University Of Michigan

“I think the key to getting anywhere in life is motivation and he definitely demonstrated it with his presentation to our students. And he really emphasized you have to be motivated from within to go far in life.”

~ Erin Moss
FBLA Advisor

“Your event utilized simple life lessons and provided our students with a different approach on how to succeed in college, achieve in life and how to become better community leaders.”

~ Robert Canida - UNC Pembroke

“Our youth are very impressionable. So, when you can make an impression on a young man to visit his advisor to apologize about the way he wears his clothing and commit to no longer sagging his pants, regardless of the environment, I believe you’ve made a HUGE impact. Thank yo so much for changing the lives of our students on our campus through your words, examples and life stories. You were remarkable.”

~ Timogi Jackson
3M Program Director

More About Vincent K. Harris

He's here to help you build a legacy, not just a name. The legacy he's talking about reaches far beyond money and toys. A legacy means having an impact in your business, personal life, community and generations from now, using your amazing talents and abilities to change the world.

If you're like him, you prefer not to live in a box. In fact, you probably destroyed the box to keep it from limiting your thinking a long time ago. He's a business strategist, marketing connoisseur and speaker with a side dish of smiles and laughter. As a southern gentleman from North Carolina with nothing more than a passion, dream and vision, he created a mindset and business that resonates with thought-leaders and community leaders in a powerful way. He helps people dream big and back it up with daily actions to create measurable results.

“Vincent K. Harris is indeed an amazing man, entrepreneur, mentor and friend. Honestly, there are no words to describe the level of professionalism and character this young man operates in. The wisdom he imparts, the warm greetings he offers, and the level of integrity he operates in is simply mind-blowing. When booking Mr. Harris for an event you can expect jaw-dropping experience for he will go above and beyond with his delivery, content and speech! He is articulate, well-mannered, and an overall respectable guy whom I am blessed to have become connected with. If I could say it this way, “Vincent K. Harris is indeed THAT guy.” ~ Carla R. Cannon
President, Women Of Standard Magazine

Vincent was the cover feature of Men Of Standard Magazine. He's a monthly contributor to The Career Magazine, K.I.S.H. Magazine and Women Of Standard Magazine. Whether it's his monthly columns or his weekly videos, he is committed to helping others to BECOME, what they should have BEEN.
